All such books and records shall be open to inspection by any representative of the CFTC, the United States Department of Justice, or the Securities Exchange Commission, or by any representative of a prudential regulator as authorized by the CFTC. More specifically, for swap transactions, CFTC Regulation imposes the following retention requirements with respect to the two year/five year requirement: and shall make such books and records readily accessible for inspection by the CFTC, the DOJ, the SEC, or by any representative of a prudential regulator as authorized by the CFTC during the first two (2) years of such five year period; provided, however, that all records required to be kept relating to swap transactions must be retained with respect to each swap throughout the life of the swap and for a period of at least five years following the final termination of the swap; provided further that each record related to a swap transaction shall be (i) readily accessible via real time electronic access throughout the life of the swap and for the two years following the final termination of the swap, and (ii) for the remaining three years of the five year period following the final termination of the swap, such record shall be retrievable within three business days.~~
